Assignment of Rights

As the corresponding author, you are consenting on behalf of all the authors to the following assignment of rights, which includes the signing of this Open Access Transfer Agreement as a necessary requirement for the publication of your manuscript. The article will be published under a CC - BY - NC - ND license (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0>). This license means that anyone may freely read, download, distribute and make the article available to the public in either printed and electronic form, provided that both the author and the journal are acknowledged as the source, whereas no commercial use is allowed, and the work may not be altered, transformed or serve as the basis for a derivative work. Upon acceptance of the manuscript by the Miskwaabiimag 2-Spirits Health Journal, all authors agree to hereby license their work for publication to Miskwaabiimag 2-Spirits Health Journal.

Duties of Care

Product liability laws set high standards for your duty of care as the author of an academic manuscript. This is especially the case when you give therapeutic information and/or specify drug doses. Therefore, it is important that you check this information carefully in the page-proofs of your article. This will be much easier if you have the information counterchecked—depending on the sensitivity of the information within the article—by specialist colleagues. As authors have specialist knowledge in their respective subject area, it is incumbent upon them to assess the accuracy of the information provided within the article.

Author's Declaration

- I have taken note of the information on the duties of care under product liability law.
- I agree to the assignments of rights in accordance with this document on behalf of all authors and confirm that I am authorized by my co-authors to sign on their behalf (if several authors have contributed to the article).
- I have read and understood the terms and conditions of the CC - BY - NC - ND license and I agree on behalf of all authors that the article will be published under such a license.
- I agree that I have reviewed all corrections and confirm this article is ready to be published.
